

Construction Litigation

We have extensive experience in both public and private construction projects. We represent clients, ranging from individuals and small companies to large corporations, in all aspects of the construction business.

When it comes to construction litigation, we can assist with the resolution of complex construction disputes, including:

- Claims for delays
- Interferences and accelerations
- Change orders
- Claims under the Construction Defect Action Reform Act
 - Design defects
 - Construction defects
 - Quality of work
 - Contract issues
 - Changed conditions
 - Indemnity bond claims
 - Bid protests
 - Bid mistakes
 - Mechanic's liens.

Our lawyers have been involved in a wide variety of construction projects and claims throughout the region, including the Denver International Airport; the Anheuser-Busch brewery in Fort Collins, Colorado; Department of Energy (DOE) Uranium Mill Tailings Remediation Project, and Coors Field baseball stadium.
